

Development of an Exemplar- based Writing Instruction Textbook for Teaching IELTS Writing

CHONG, Sin Wang & YE, Xuejun
The Education University of Hong Kong

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Forthcoming paper

Chong, S. W. (Oct, 2018). The use of exemplars in English writing classrooms: From theory to practice. Assessment & Evaluation in Higher Education.

2017
Impact
Factor
1.877

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Rundown

The role of writing
exemplars in ESL
writing instruction

Exemplar-based instruction: Evidence from higher education research

Theoretical underpinnings of exemplar-based instruction

Progress report of an IELTS writing
textbook (TDG project)

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Concepts:

Synopsis

Concepts

Thesaurus

Query

Summaries

Log

Analyst Synopsis

Detail Level

Spreadsheet (CSV) Export

Theme

Hits

students

3967

feedback

3386 higher

912 example

457

Higher Education

388 practice

388 writing

232 peer

189

Feedback

132

Sadler

129

Theme: students

Concepts: students, exemplars, work, marking, standards, criteria, use, quality, discussion, understanding, teacher, teachers, study, assignment, class, different, used, task, using, useful, grade, time, focus

Hits: 3967

For most students, the marking class led them to reflect on their understanding of what the teacher expected and how they might improve their own essay writing. The teacher scaffolded students' learning for the task by asking students to look at examples of work of different quality and grade them (using the marking guide that would be used for their own work), and then explaining in class how the exemplars were actually graded.

When students discussed exemplars before constructing their own marking criteria and using them for self-assessment and peer assessment, they

Visible Concepts: 58%

Theme Size: 42%

Rotation: 0°

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Impetus for this project

While the use of exemplars in ESL writing instruction has been in place for a long time, how writing exemplars can be utilized to develop students' evaluative judgement of the quality of a text and understanding of assessment standards of high-stakes language tests (e.g. IELTS) has not been adequately researched and practiced.

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Definition of 'exemplars'

- 'Exemplars' are defined as samples produced by students (and sometimes teachers) and used to 'illustrate dimensions of quality' (Carless, Chan, To, Lo, & Barrett, 2018, p. 108).
- The use of exemplars is regarded as one of the promising ways to develop students' understanding of the ambiguous criteria of 'good work'.

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

The role of writing exemplars in ESL writing instruction

Product

- Exemplars are provided by the teacher or textbook which serve as sample texts on which students model their writing

Process

- Writing exemplars produced by students are used to facilitate peer review among students

Genre

- Exemplars are carefully chosen by teachers to illustrate the communicative functions of linguistic features in relation to the purpose, context, and target audience of a particular text-type

Hyland (2007); Wray & Lewis (1997); Young (1978)

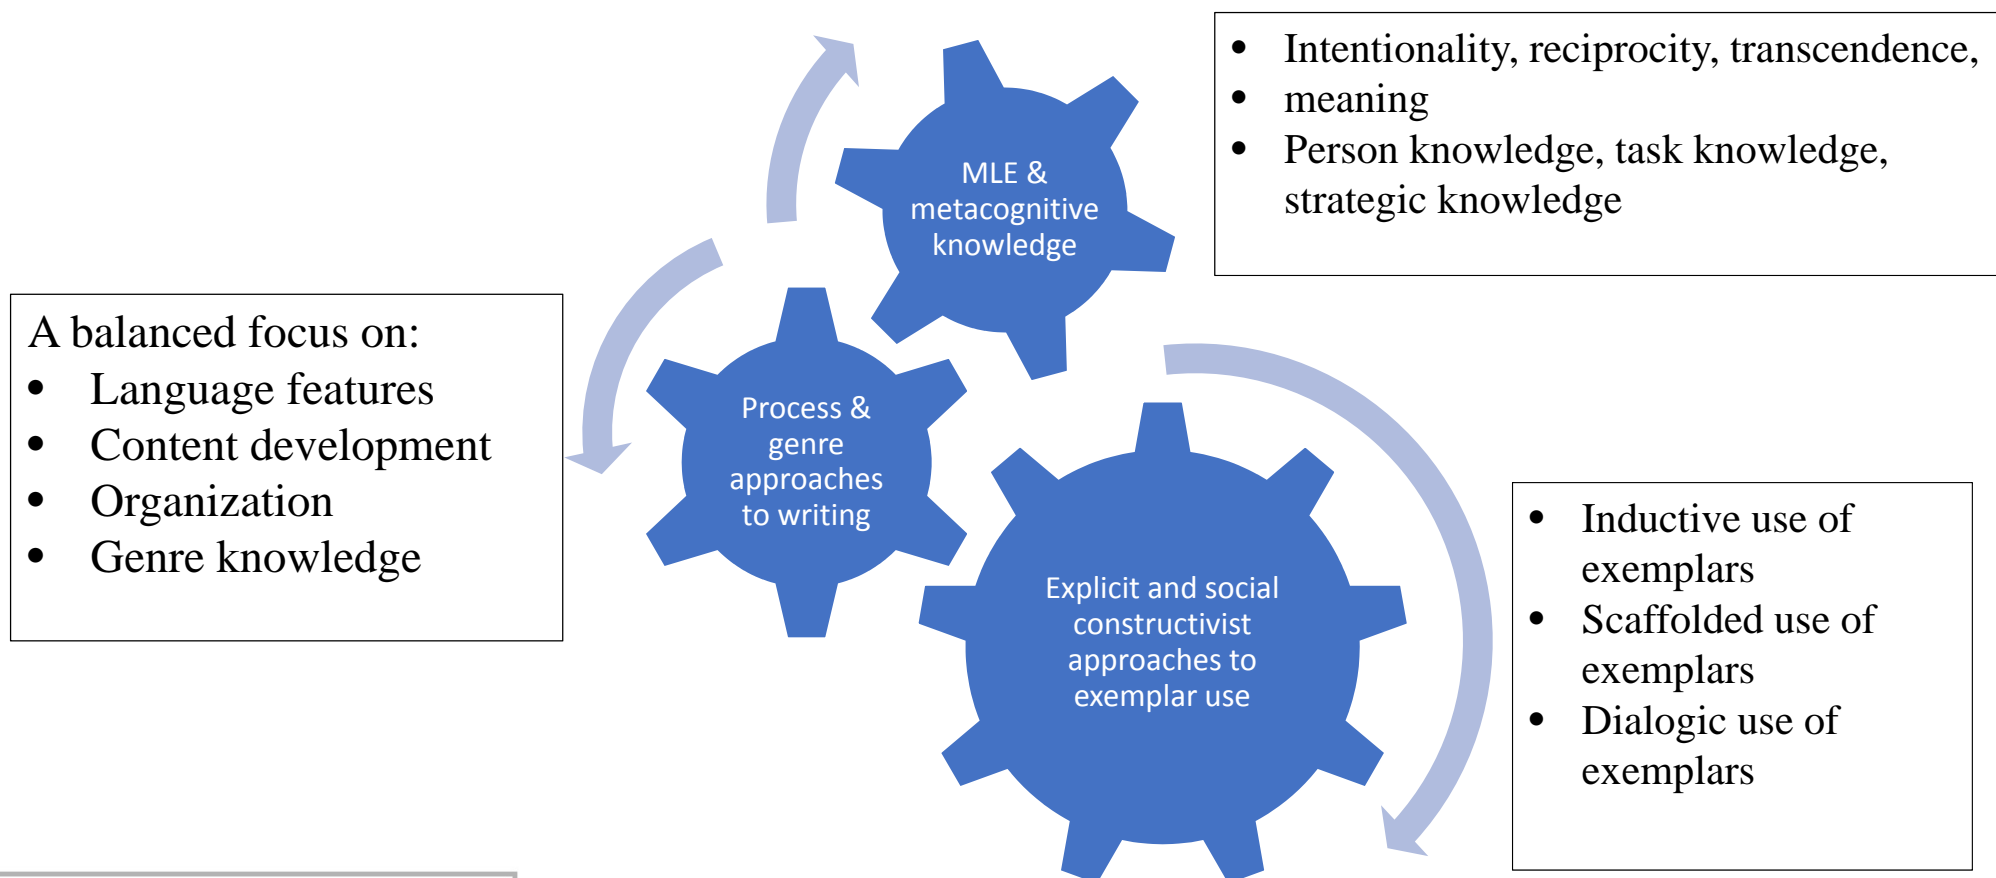

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Carless et al. (2018); Hendry et al. (2016); Hounsell (2008); O'Donovan, Price, & Rust (2008); Sadler (2010)

Theoretical underpinnings of the exemplar-based writing instruction textbook for IELTS writing

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Process & genre approaches to ESL writing instruction

Approach	Goals	Learners' role	Teachers' role	A typical teaching sequence
Process	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students are exposed to the steps involved in drafting and redrafting of a piece of written work 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Produce, discuss, reflect on, and revise successive drafts of a text 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Facilitate students' discussions and reflections on drafts of a text Give timely, formative and descriptive feedback for students to improve on their drafts Focus equally on grammatical accuracy and content 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Prewriting Drafting (focus on coherence and quality of idea; peer assessment; formative feedback by T) Editing (focus on language accuracy) Publishing
Genre	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students write in the target language appropriately (with reference to the context, purpose of writing, and audience) and effectively (focusing on communicative functions of specific linguistic features) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Recognize how language, content, and contexts work hand in hand Recognize how language is used to shape meaning 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Be explicit about communicative functions of grammar; grammar instruction is integrated into the analysis of texts and contexts rather than taught as a discrete component 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> T provides and explains a model text, focusing on the context, purpose, and audience of the model text T highlights the linguistic features prevalent in the model text, focusing on form and function Ss complete a writing question in the same genre

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Mediated learning experience (MLE)

- According to Vygotsky, 'mediation' entails that human activities and relationships are mediated by material and symbolic tools.
- Originally developed to account for differences in cognitive development of children, MLE suggests that human cognition is not static but can be developed through meaningful interaction and instruction (Presseisen, 1992).
- Recently, MLE has been utilized as 'an intervention approach intended to improve learning' in educational and L2 studies (Lee, 2014, p. 203).

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

MLE and feedback

- Feuerstein, Rand, & Rynders (1988) suggest four criteria for interactions to be qualified as mediated learning interaction: (1) intentionality, (2) reciprocity, (3) transcendence, and (4) meaning. Lee (2014; 2017) explains these criteria in relation to teacher's feedback:
- Intentionality: Feedback should be intentional in directing students' attention to particular areas (e.g. content, coherence, language) rather than giving feedback in an unfocused manner.
- Reciprocity: Feedback should be interactional rather than unidirectional in which students play a passive role.
- Transcendence: Feedback should facilitate 'feed-up' and 'feed-forward' in which students are able to transfer what they have gained from the feedback to their future writing tasks (Hattie & Timperley, 2007).
- Meaning: Feedback should provide students with a clear understanding of their strengths and weaknesses in a piece of writing and actions that can be done to close the feedback loop.

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Metacognitive knowledge

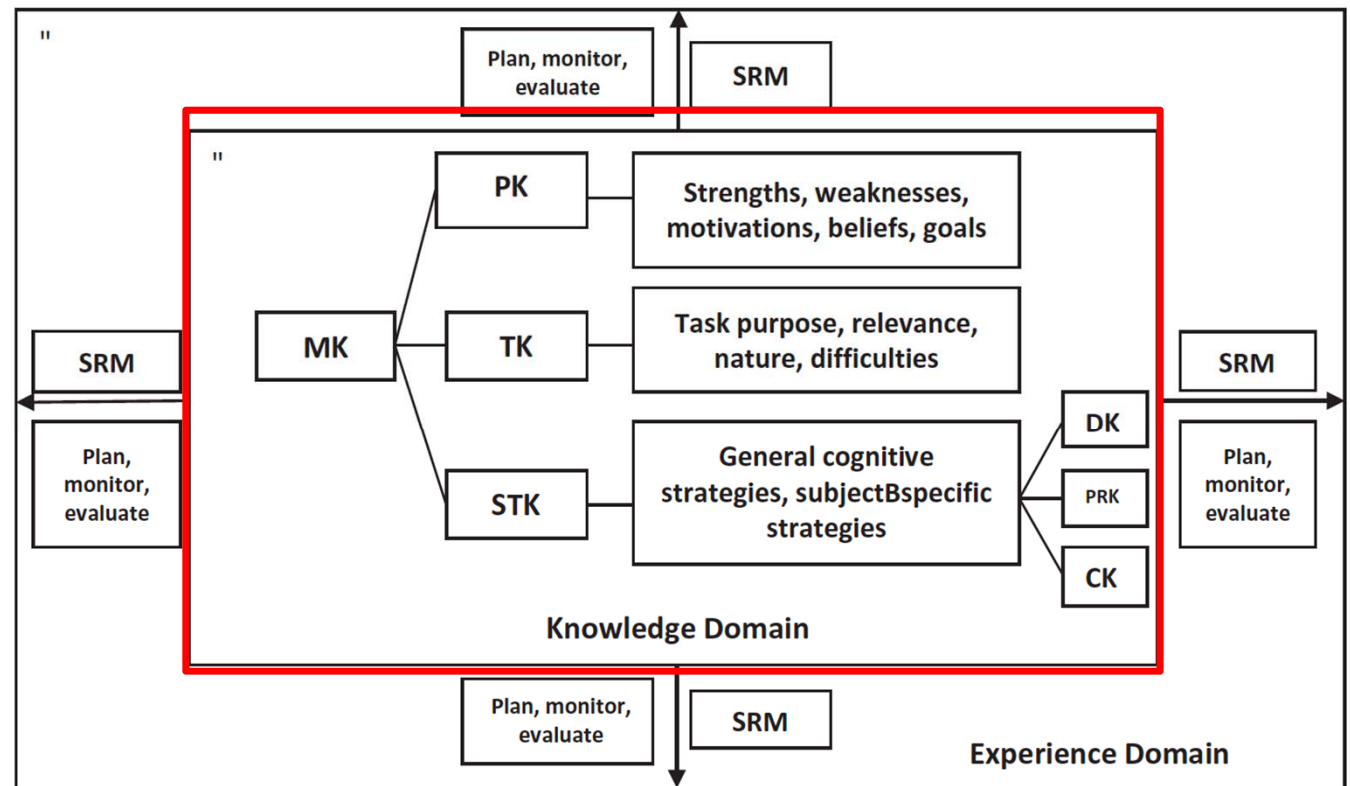

Figure 1. A conceptualization of metacognition.

Chong (2017, p. 6)

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Approaches to exemplar use

Approaches to using exemplars	Description
Inductive use of exemplars	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students are involved in judging the quality of the exemplars by using a marking rubric provided by the teacher. Teachers then explain the assessment standards in relation to the rubric and the exemplars (Hendry, et al., 2016).
Scaffolded use of exemplars	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students are involved in a pre-task (e.g. producing a part of a writing task reminiscent of the exemplar) before being introduced to high quality exemplars (Carless et al., 2018).
Dialogic use of exemplars	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students' opinions are elicited and divergent viewpoints are encouraged (Carless, et al., 2018). Students are encouraged to discuss their viewpoints with their classmates before teachers explicate the assessment standards (Hendry et al., 2016). Students are asked to verbalize their judgements and provide suggestions for improving the exemplars (Sadler, 2010). Students compare exemplars with their own work and reflect on their own performance through self-reflective questioning (Hounsell, 2008).

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Exemplar-based IELTS writing textbook (TDG project)

- With the support of a Teaching Development Grant at The Education University of Hong Kong (EdUHK) (HK$327,000), a textbook is being written by the author and his colleague to prepare undergraduate students for the two tasks in IELTS writing examination (academic stream) (Task 1: data report and Task 2: essay).
- Several steps have been taken to ensure the effective adoption of research-informed, exemplar-based writing instruction in the textbook.
- Each content chapter in the textbook introduces students to one of the four assessment domains of IELTS writing (academic module) namely task achievement, coherence and cohesion, lexical resource, and grammatical range and accuracy, and facilitate students' understanding of these requirements through engaging them in tasks which analyze authentic exemplars written by university students.

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (understanding assessment standards)

Analyzed IELTS official rubrics

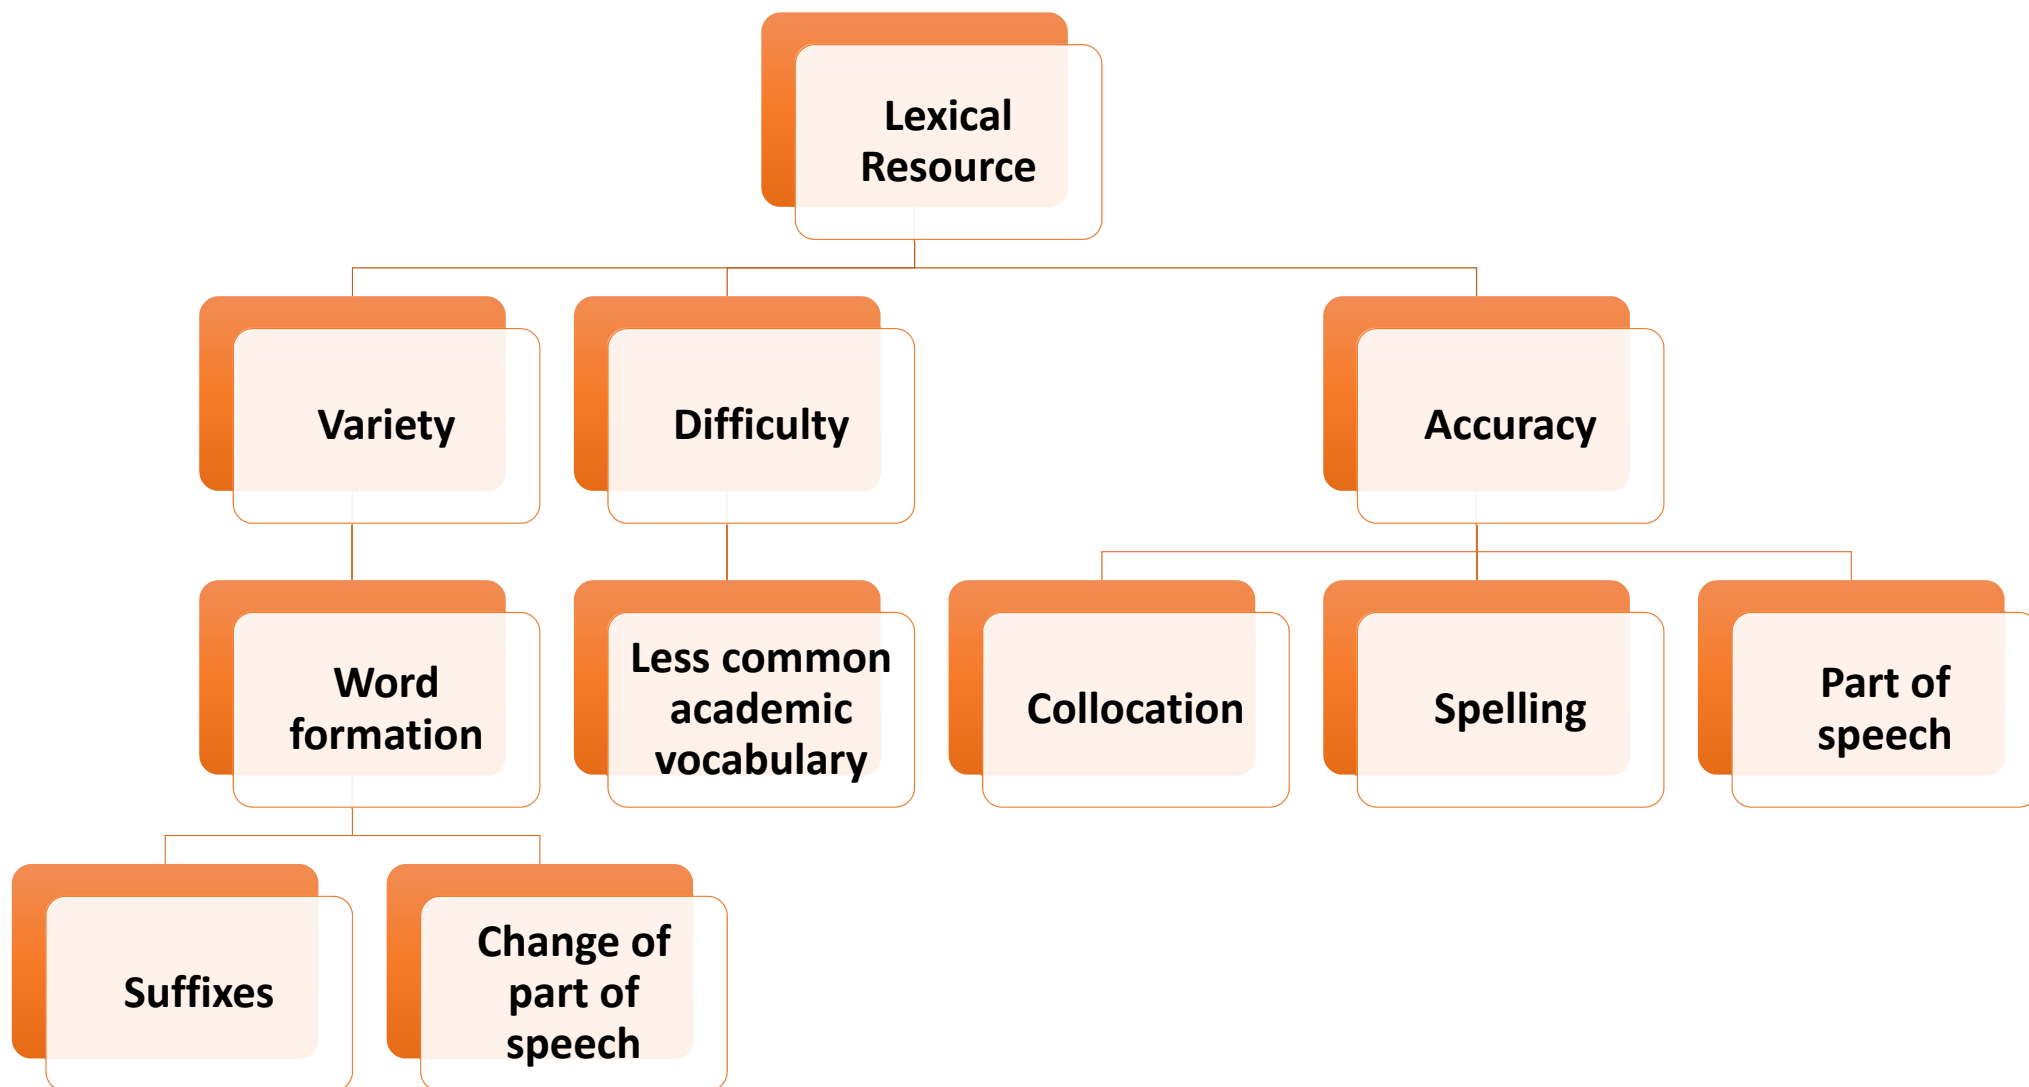

Interviewed 3 experienced IELTS instructors/examiners Created concept maps

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (literature review)

Literature search on recent publications
on use of exemplar
in higher education

Literature review

Theory into practice paper

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (question analysis)

448 Tasks 1 & 2
questions using NVivo

Task 1: 4 question
types + 29 themes

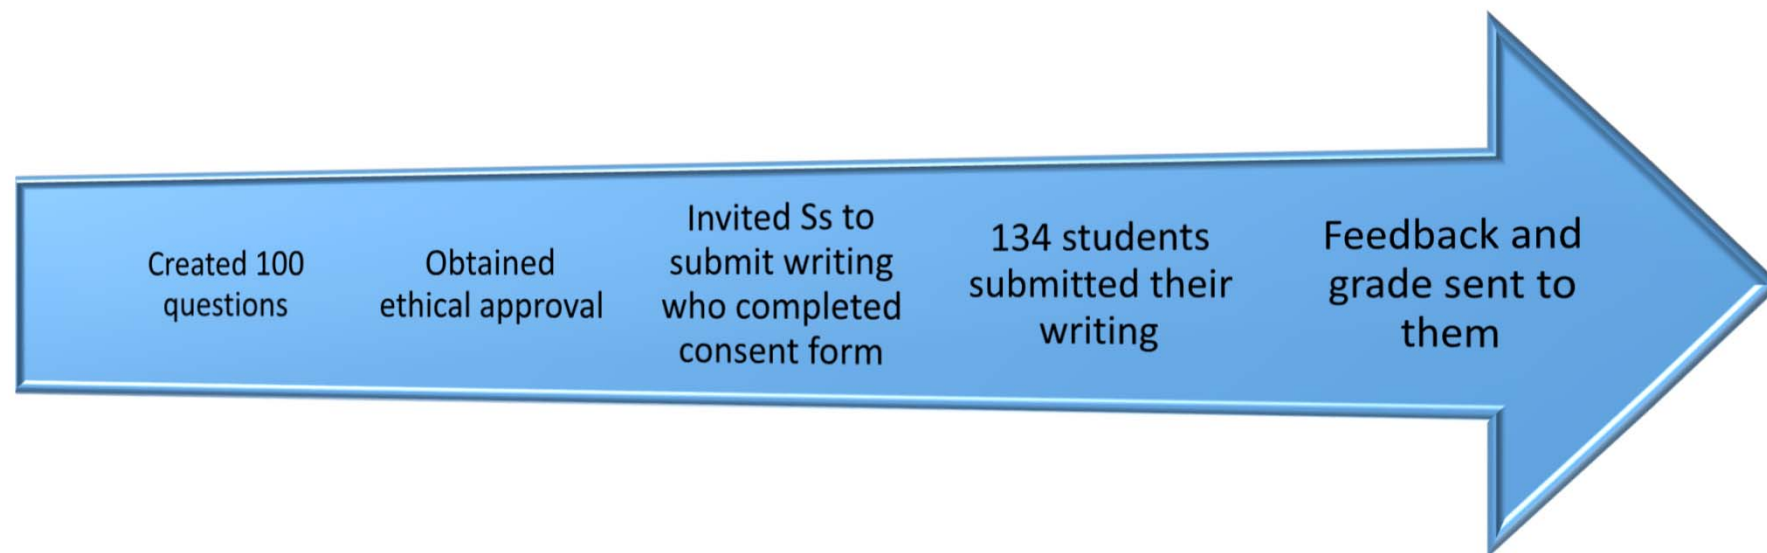

Task 2: 5 question
types + 22 themes

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (collection of exemplars)

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (textbook development)

Submitted book proposal to Routledge (under review)

In the process of creating a website version of the textbook

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Report of progress (workshops and consultations – Oct & Nov 2018)

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Looking ahead

- Data collection (cont'd) – individual interviews, online open-ended questionnaire, transcription of observation data
- Analysis of data
- Write up another paper on students' perception of and effectiveness of use of exemplars in ESL writing
- Send out workshop participants' writing to an external rater
- Present a 60-minute workshop at Australian Association for Research in Education (AARE) conference in December 2018

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

If you are interested...

Chong, S. W. (2018). The use of exemplars in English writing classrooms: From theory to practice.
Assessment & Evaluation in Higher Education.

2017
Impact
Factor
1.877

Reference list for this PPT will be provided upon email request

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Contact

Sin Wang Chong

- Email: iswchong@eduhk.hk
- EdUHK Staff Profile:
https://oraas0.ied.edu.hk/rich/web/people_details.jsp?pid=129174
- ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-4519-0544>
- ResearchGate:
https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Chong_Sin_Wang
- Personal website: www.iswchong.com

語文教育中心 Centre for Language
in Education

香港教育大學
The Education University
of Hong Kong

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.

Thank You!

The Education University
of Hong Kong Library

For private study or research only.
Not for publication or further reproduction.