Life Education proclaims, “Life influencing life”, touching of ones’ soul and heart is one of the key competences and goals of Life Education practitioners. They view their sharing of life experiences and values with students through diverse pedagogies and activities as imperative to the process.

In this seminar, two presenters, Dr. Raymond Kong, Centre Manager of the CRSE, and Mr. Li Chin Wa, Senior Lecturer of the Department of International Education, would take the opportunity to outline what Life Education is and to share their thoughts and experience as promoters of Life Education.

The speakers will share their strategies on disseminating life values to students of the EdUHK as well as both primary and secondary students through a variety of school and professional projects as well as General Education courses at EdUHK. Building upon the core ideas of Life Education, this seminar will also introduce information on organizations dedicated to promoting Life Education along with a list of available resources.

This seminar is part of the series of lectures hosted by the Community of Practice (CoP) in Life Education and Positive Education, we are honored to be a part of this wonderful series of insightful sharing and would like to invite colleagues and students who are interested in these topics as well as Life Education to take part in the lectures.
